

Sharing your crayons with a classmate.

Telling your friend they can't play with you today.

Helping your friend clean up when they drop their supplies.

Calling your friend a mean name.

Grabbing a toy from another child.

Making a mean face or rolling their eyes at another.

Inviting a child who is standing alone to play.

Giving a high-five after a game.

Whispering and giggling to someone while looking at someone else.

Listening patiently while another child talks.

Telling someone they can't play.

Smiling at someone from across the room.

Refusing to share your extra snack.

Not listening while your friend tells a story.

Giving someone a drawing.

Taking someone's pencil without asking.

Ripping someone's drawing.
